KEARSLEY's Arms of the Peers and Peereſſes of England, Scotland, and Ireland, neatly engraved, with an English Tranſlation of the Mottos. ○

§ They may likewiſe be had bound with the annual Court Calendar.

A FEW EDITION,

Including the BENCH of BISHOPS,

(Which was originally intended for a ſeparate work)

The HERALDRY of NATURE;

OR, TEMPORARY ARMS.

Adapted to the preſent Houſe of Peers, and emblematical of each of the Lord's preſent hobby horſes, either in the fashionable and diſſipated purſuits of pleaſure, or the more confined walks of buſineſs; including their domeſtic amuſements and connections, with upwards of Eighty examples, neatly etched, by an eminent Engraver.

“ This is a new and excellent method of delineating characters, and ſaying more in the compaſs of a Shilling, than can generally be conveyed by mere words in a whole Sheet! How the preſent Houſe of Peers will approve of theſe new armorial bearings, which are drawn in the true HOGARTHIAN ſtile, with great Humour, and no ſmall degree of Satire, is not for us to determine; we muſt however acknowledge,

A LECTURE on HEADS,

As originally written by GEORGE ALEXANDER STEVENS.

To which are added, considerable Additions,
By Mr. P I L O N.

The whole delivered by Mr. LEE LEWES, at the Theatre-Royal, Covent-Garden;
With his Essay on Satire.

† Mr. Stevens never disposed of the Copy-Right of this celebrated Lecture till he sold it to Mr. Lewes for a valuable consideration, who afterwards consigned it to Mr. Kearsley.

It is thought necessary to mention this circumstance, as spurious editions, both incorrect and mutilated, are in circulation.

MEMOIRS of CHARLES PRICE, or the SOCIAL MONSTER.

Every trick, deception, fraud, &c. comes here before the publick properly authenticated.

The Editor has had, not only the documents,
but the particular circumstances of each case, from the parties injured; to specify all the names would fill a newspaper.

Among those who have been defrauded, and assisted the Editor in compiling this extraordinary production, appear Mr. Wigmore, Captain Williams, Mr. Power, Mr. Hancock,
Mr. Titmus, Mr. Nott, Mr. Spilsbury, Mr.
Reeves, Mr. Babs, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Donaldson, &c. &c.

Three whole length Portraits of PRICE are likewise given, which represent him in his disguises; also a specimen of his counterfeit and real hand writing. To which is added, a faithful Account of his Manner of committing Forgeries on the Bank of England, and his Method of evading the Officers of Justice for several Years!

and Deceptions now extend to One Hundred and Sixty Pages, including a List of the Names of the Parties injured, and their Residence on various parts of the Continent, as well as England.

These MEMOIRS are published under the patronage of several of the persons who have been pillaged by the above swindler. They have also assisted the Editor with the circumstances of their respective cases; the number is truly extensive, and includes every rank, from the Peer down to hackney coachmen and maid servants.

To which is added, his Trial at the Old Bailey, and his Portrait handsomely engraved.

A NEW EDITION of

A TABLE of TRADES,

For the assistance of Parents and Guardians, and for the benefit of those Young Men who wish to prosper in the world. Shewing what a master in every profession requires as an apprentice-fee; what a journeyman can earn;
also also what sum is necessary to set up a master in any trade; with some interesting advice to apprentices, masters, and parents. This table contains upwards of 300 professions.

Price only One Shilling.

The Review for September last, mentions the above little book in the following terms:

“ Though the publisher candidly tells his readers that the plan of this table was taken from Collier’s Parents and Guardians Directory, yet the arrangement is quite new. Collier’s book is not properly methodized, and is three times the price. The defects in that work are here rectified; there appear to be above three hundred different professions, with the necessary descriptions; and at the end salutary advice given, both to masters and apprentices, which will, if properly attended to, contribute to the happiness of both. This is a most valuable little book to the commercial or trading ranks of society.

KEARSLEY’S TAX-TABLES,

Containing Abstracts of the most general and interesting Acts, including the last that passed, likewise the STAMP DUTIES complete, corrected by the office list.

This publication contains the substance of upwards of one hundred and eighty acts; among which are the taxes upon Retail Shops, Houses, Windows, Bachelors, Attornies, Servants, Gloves, Hats, Notes, Bills of Exchange, Receipts, Perfumery, Insurance, Game, Horses, Carriages, Hawkers and Pedlars,

ESSAYS on SUICIDE,
And the IMMORTALITY of the SOUL.

By the late DAVID HUME, Esq.

With Remarks, intended as an antidote to the poison contained in these performances.

By the EDITOR.

To which are added, Two Letters on Suicide, from Rousseau's Eloisa.

 These Essays have been for some time clandestinely circulated at a very extravagant price, without any comment. This mysterious mode of sale, by rendering them an object of request, has considerably enhanced their value. The Notes which accompany and improve this edition, are written by a Clergyman of the church of England, and will appear to every serious reader of taste and discernment, a satisfactory answer to every thing exceptionable in the text.
